Enclosed Files

I have included a large number of files, so that you can both understand and receive as many articles / press releases / photographs as possible.

Unlimited Content

This PDF lists websites which reproduce press articles and release for your free, unrestricted use.

This should normally be your “first stop” for your niche.

In most cases, you need to register -you just need to remember that as you are publishing content on your site, you are “press” automatically and are very welcome to register and use the content.

Many people with web sites don't think of themselves as press and don't realize that they can freely use all this material - but don't tell everyone!

Useful Links

These pdf's allow you to go straight to the website of the relevant company - they will have lots more information, background etc - see if they have a “media” or “press” section, as these are the 2nd best places to get free content.

Specific Niche PDF's

So that you can see the scope and range of all this content, I've also enclosed some niche PDF's, explaining the sheer size of all this content - many thousands of articles every day.

On these sites, you need to register (for free) but you will be accepted if you explain in the online form that you are using the content online.

(These are all run by the same international company, incidentally!)
