

Instant quality content for your website or blog

Unlimited Content - the easy way!

You have a website or blog.

You need content.

Fresh content, daily - even hourly.

And you don't realize how easy it is to get ...

As a website owner, you are a publisher.

That means you can freely use the millions of items issued as articles and press releases by companies every day.

You can use them as they come, or you can change them around.

Most web site owners simply keep them as they are.

They often contain pictures, which again you can use (when publishing details about the same company - you can't use the pictures, usually, for any other purpose).

Here, I reveal how you can have thousands of such articles / releases today.

These articles are issued freely as the companies get publicity - and they will often get a backlink from your site.

You get fresh, expertly written content, free of all charges - and the content is great for monetising through AdSense and similar.

Background

Sourcewire and Journalist Directory are part of the same group.

Register and you will receive anything from several to several dozens of fresh items every day - many with pictures, which you can freely use.

As you can see from the graphic above, almost every possible subject is covered.

Video / Photo's

<http://www.sourcewire.com/channels/video.php>

and

<http://www.sourcewire.com/channels/image.php>

will freely let you use many hundreds of videos and photographs on your site

RSS

<http://www.sourcewire.com/rss/>

Using an RSS reader, you can see the latest items the moment they are available.

Events

<http://www.sourcewire.com/events/press/>

Here, you can see the events which you are welcome to attend.

These always have free gifts, lunch / meals etc, plus you get instant access to lots of articles - usually on a memory stick - for you to freely use.

Public Relations Companies

<http://www.sourcewire.com/pr/>

Here, you can find the companies which represent the clients - they will send you samples (usually to keep), releases, pictures.

They will often invite you on "all expenses paid" trips to find out more about their clients - factory tours, free flights, free sample products etc.

Do contact these companies!

Journalist Directory .com and Sourcewire . com

How much does it cost to be listed?

Nothing, all our services for journalists are completely free of charge.

Who can see my information?

There are two sets of people who can access the JournalistDirectory:

Editors, who are looking for journalists to commission for an article or to hire for a permanent position, can see and search each journalist's biography and specialist areas and types of work undertaken. They can't see your contact details, however, and must contact you via a form on the site. This is emailed to you so that you can choose to respond or not.

PRs who have taken a subscription to the JournalistDirectory can see, search and download each journalist's biography, specialist areas, and types of work undertaken. However if you want you can choose to hide all your contact details from them so that you can't be contacted through us by PRs.

Why would I want PRs to see my details?

So that they can invite you to appropriate events like press conferences, launches and trips, or send you information relevant to the work you do.

You can give as much detail as you like, to help make sure they contact you only when it is relevant.

How do I make sure my listing isn't out of date?

When you create a new entry in the JournalistDirectory you will choose your own username and password so you can update your details whenever you like.

Unless you tell us otherwise, we'll send you a reminder email once every two months in case you forget.
